

IJP INTERNATIONAL JOURNALISTS' PROGRAMMES

27th German-Northern European Programme

The German non-profit organisation IJP – International Journalists' Programmes – would like to announce its twenty-seventh bursary for journalists from the Nordic and Baltic countries

Denmark, Iceland, Norway

as well as

Estonia and Lithuania.

Up to eleven German and eleven Nordic/Baltic journalists in total will have the opportunity to work for a media outlet in the respectively other country.

Purpose of the programme

IJP is a non-profit organisation offering sponsored exchange programmes for early and mid-career journalists between Germany and more than 40 other countries and regions. These include the United States, Northern Europe, the Netherlands, Turkey, Latin America, East Asia, Southern Africa and the Middle East. The purpose of these exchanges is to allow participants to experience their host countries from a correspondent's perspective, exchange knowledge and network within their field.

Journalists from all countries, who are granted the German-Northern European bursary, receive a deeper and more detailed insight into the political landscape, the economy, and everyday life in the host country. Participants from the Northern countries meet opinion leaders and decision makers in Germany, the largest country in the European Union.

The programme is funded by the Auswärtiges Amt (Federal Foreign Office), by the foreign ministries of the Nordic countries and by a close circle of private sponsors.

The Bursary

The scholarship programme includes a three-day introduction conference which will take place in one of the Nordic capitals or Berlin. After that, the participating journalists will begin their six- to eight-week stay at their respective host organizations. These are selected by IJP in consideration of the interests, qualifications and wishes of the individual bursary recipients. The programme concludes with a final conference, which the fellows are required to attend. Participants are asked to deliver a three-page report of their experiences, including all contributions produced during their stay. These reports and contributions will be part of the final documentation. After the exchange, the participants are encouraged to stay connected through the IJP alumni network.

Each fellow will receive a stipend of 3.800 Euro to cover a part of travel expenses, accommodation and personal expenses during their stay in Germany.

The participant must cover any additional costs. Work compensation in Germany is up to the individual host organization and cannot be guaranteed.
